

Forever float that standard sheet—
Where breathes the foe but fails before us?
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

Another Change of Base.

It is evident from the delay in attacking Fredericksburg, and the fact that a large number of transports were reported in the Potomac, off Aquia Creek on Friday, that Richmond will not be attacked from the direction of Fredericksburg. The south side of James river is the most likely point. It is believed that Stonewall Jackson has left the Shenandoah valley and gone to Richmond, and that the enemy have nearly all left northern Virginia, in consequence of the advance of our army towards their capital.

Shinplasters.

Judge Noggle, in his charge to the grand jury yesterday, very properly called its attention to the large number of shinplasters in circulation, and the provisions of the law in relation to them, urging such action as would tend to their suppression. No one can deny the evils growing up under the kind of checks, due bills, etc., which are now used as a substitute for small change, and every one must desire an abatement of them. The business men of Janesville refrained from a resort to them long after they had been adopted in other business localities, and finally issued them only when an imperative necessity seemed to compel it. It is very easy to say how, under judicious management and such regulations as might have been adopted, the convenience of business might have been promoted and the community abundantly protected.

But the trouble has been that the city has become flooded with all kinds of trash from abroad, of which nobody knows anything of the solvency or good character of the issuers; and the longer it is tolerated the worse it will become by an accumulation of foreign issues and a home addition by those who have neither capital, credit or character to sustain it. What remedy can be best adopted we cannot suggest. Our business men and citizens need something with which to transact their daily business, while, at the same time, the community should be protected from the evils rapidly growing upon it. A sudden and unwarmed infliction of the penalties of the law would be a harsh and severe proceeding, and we presume Judge Noggle designed his charge more as a caution and a reprobation of an evident evil than an intention to enforce the law on all who have violated it. But we come back to the question—what shall be done to provide a small currency and still protect the people?

In Madison the leading business men formed an association and issued checks guaranteed by the association. These checks were deposited in one of the banks, and sold as called for, the purchase money being retained as a special deposit for their redemption. The association also resolved to discountenance and refuse all other issues. This proceeding was as undoubted a violation of the statute as any individual issue; but it is the least objectionable of any plan we have seen, and its illegality might possibly be overlooked, if the condition of refusing everything else is faithfully observed, and the community protected from the irresponsible foreign stuff palmed off upon it.

New Counterfeits.—Two new counterfeits have recently made their appearance. Both are imitations of the genuine bill. One purports to be a five dollar note on Cuyler's Bank of Palmyra, New York, and has on the right lower corner a portrait of Martin Washington, in an oval frame, and a figure 5 above. On the left is a figure 5, in a very highly ornamented frame work. On the top center is a coat of arms of the state of New York, and the name of the state of New York, and the name of the Union Bank of Delaware, Wilmington. It has on the left and two women seated, leaning on an open safe filled with money bags; boy, girl and dog on left end.

The Official Result in New York.—The Albany Atlas and Argus gives the following full official vote on governor: Whole vote, 605,653; Seymour, 307,063; Wadsworth, 298,451.

Majority for Seymour, 10,672.

Falmouth, Va., where the advance of Burnside's army now is, lies on the north bank of the Rappahannock river, directly opposite Fredericksburg.

A Small Population.—The official election returns from Dakota Territory show that but four hundred and fifty-seven votes were polled at the recent election for delegate to congress.

SIXTY TRAINS A DAY!—Some idea of the business transacted by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and the Chicago & Galena Union railroads may be inferred from the fact that that portion of the latter road, east of the Galena Junction, over which the trains of the former road also pass, there run thirty trains daily each way, or sixty trains passing that point every twenty-four hours.—Chicago Journal.

There are two armies moving here—the African army, which keeps moving to the rear, and the United States army, which is moving to the front. Hundreds of acres of cotton here has not been picked. The blacks say they have "done quit picking cotton now." We encamped in a large cotton field a few days ago. When we went in, about sunset, a large string of negroes, men and women, were about leaving with their day's picking; each had a large basket that would hold about 150 pounds which they carry on their heads. The next morning some of them came back to renew the picking. They surveyed the vast cotton-field and then the vast army, when they put down their baskets, and I suppose thought the cotton-fields had no charms for them, and they probably said, "Ias gwine north." At any rate they left, and the last I saw of the baskets they were strapped behind some of the caissons of the artillery, and followed them off to be used by the artillerymen in carrying corn. We met a great many blacks passing to the rear to day, and they appear to know what is good for black people. I also saw some more white slaves—whiter than a good many folks I know in Janesville who pass for white.

Our troops recouped Holly Springs. The rebel army is some fifteen miles south of that place, fortifying. That is what we get here, but we know not where they are until we get to skirmishing with their outposts and pickets. We know then that the enemy is near, and not until then. We have to get the northern papers, as a general thing, to find out where we are, and where the enemy are also.

The regiment is in very good condition now. We have 450 men for duty. I have now 48 men here with me; one sick with fever, Norman Davis, of Indian Ford. He is a good soldier, and his loss in the company would be much regretted. The days are very warm here—the nights cold. We had one snow, nearly one inch deep—something very uncommon here this time of the year. My respects to all.

Yours respectfully,

W. B. BRITTON.

English Pirates and Rebel Contrabands.

Extract from a private letter, dated

Liverpool, Nov. 6, 1862.

The steamer Dabana has been on fire and loading with munitions of war the past week, to be despatched to the pirate Alabama, in order that she may further burn and destroy American commerce. There are now loading here for Nassau and rebel ports the steamers Gladiator, Minna, Peterhoff, Julie Usher and Thistle, and the sailing vessels Nicholas 11, Queen of the U.S., Antonio and Digby. Their cargoes are chiefly gunpowder, rifles, shot and shell, intended for rebel use.

SHEEP KILLED.—We understand Mr. Rix, of the town of Polk, had 17 nice sheep killed a few nights since by a lot of vicious dogs. A number of others were badly bitten. Ex-Senator Maxon lost some the same night. As that distinguished gentleman was a very strong opponent of the famous dog law of 1859, we think it very unkind in the dogs to turn in now and kill his sheep. It shows that dogs, like republicans, are sometimes ungrateful.—Home League.

GREAT HUNT OF CONTRABANDS.—It appears that among the captures made by the late successful expedition of Gen. Weitzel, from New Orleans down the Bayou la Fourche, were four hundred wagon loads of negroes—or any four thousand contrabands, allowing ten to each wagon. The rebels had been gathering them up to carry them further into the interior, or perhaps to Texas, or perhaps to Cuba. Gen. Weitzel wrote to Gen. Butler for instructions what he was to do with them. In response, Butler has issued his instructions, that they be turned over as free laborers to the loyal Union forces of the neighborhood. What better disposition need be made of them?

Last Night's Report.

CINCINNATI, November 13. Major-General Fremont arrived here from the east, direct, last night. His arrival was known only to few until to day, when a large number of citizens called at the Burnett House to see him. Gen. Fremont declined to receive any calls. His mission to St. Louis and the west is engrossing his whole time.

Major-General Cassius M. Clay, who arrived also last evening, was closeted most of to-day with Gen. Fremont. Both the Major-General left this evening for St. Louis. General order No. 350, from the war department, announces the holding of a military court of inquiry, to be held at Indianapolis, to enquire into late military operations by Major-General Buell in Kentucky.

Major-General Wallace, Brigadier-General Schofield and Tyler, are members of the court, and Major Don Platt is Judge Advocate. It is understood that the examination into the truth or falsity of charges will be thorough, and experts will testify as to how the campaign in Kentucky should have been conducted. Gen. McClellan will be a witness before the court; also Governor Andy Johnson and other notables. The probability is that the examination will continue several weeks.

A heavy rise is coming down the Ohio river, bearing on its bosom an immense fleet of coalboats. Coal is high and scarce at present in Cincinnati and below here. The gunboat fleet will leave here to-morrow for the lower Mississippi.

There is no news from the army of a reliable nature. A battle is expected between Murfreesboro and Chattanooga. The enemy have made a stand, and the federals are preparing for an engagement.

New York, Nov. 23. The Herald has a Fernandina letter of the 10th, giving an account of the bombardment of St. Mary's, by our gunboat Monitor.

The troops landed and were fired on by the rebels. One man was wounded. The rebels mustered strongly, whereupon the Monitor fired shells twenty minutes into the town and stopped. A female bearing a flag of truce approached the ship. A lieutenant went ashore to meet her. On his return the ship hauled off, intending to return to Fernandina, when the rebels fired a volley of musketry at the ship, which then returned abreast the town and kept up a fire for an hour and a half, reducing half the town to ashes. Almost every house is injured. Previous to firing the second time, the captain invited all the women aboard his ship, but they declined. No guns were aimed at the house in which they encased themselves.

Very respectfully yours,

JERVENSON DAVIS.

ST. LOUIS, NOV. 24. Special to Times.—Such information has been received at these headquarters this p. m., as leaves no further room to doubt that the entire northern portion of Virginia has been abandoned by the rebel troops. There are a few of White's guerrillas remaining about Leesburg, Mount Gleason, Martinsburg, and vicinity. Jackson has gone towards Richmond.

HARPER'S FERRY, NOV. 24. Special to Herald.—News of interest has reached me from the headquarters of Stonewall Jackson, as late as Saturday last. Jackson then had his headquarters at Berryville and was there in person. His force was 30,000 and the number of his guns 60. On Friday Jackson received the following telegram from Jeff. Davis: "If you do not leave the valley at once, and come to help us to defend Richmond, it will not be worth while to come to the defense at all." Jackson's reply is not known, but his force were not in motion Saturday morning. The inference is that he replied in the negative. This was the fourth dispatch Jackson received from Davis calling him to come to the defense of Richmond.

OWEGO, N. Y., NOV. 25. The Pioneer schooner Reverse, bound from Chicago to this port with corn, collided with the schooner Exchange, Saturday night, off Devil's Nose, Lake Ontario, and sunk in deep water. Her crew was saved, and arrived at Genesee river.

WASHINGTON, NOV. 24. The receipts for revenue stamps at the office of the commissioner of internal revenue for the week ending Nov. 21, amounts to more than $23,000,000. There is reason to believe that a resolution of inquiry into the alleged abuses in the matter of arbitrary arrests and imprisonments in the old capital prison, will be introduced into congress at an early day in the session.

New York, Nov. 25. A letter written by Admiral Jurien Dola Grosvonts, to a gentleman of this city, announces that the French army will not move before everything is ready for a great march on the City of Mexico. In consequence the admiral does not believe that a forward movement of the whole corps d'armee will commence before the 1st week in December. The admiral is of the opinion that nothing can prevent the French from reaching the city of Mexico in the course of next January, although he says our army perhaps will have to fight the Mexicans once or twice on the way to that city.

News received from Raleigh, N. C., 13th, says, the legislature of this state convened, yesterday, and Gov. Vance sent in his message, to-day. He takes strong grounds for a vigorous prosecution of the war, and proposes to reserve a force of 10,000 men for the state, to be discharged in the spring in time for their farming operations. How to raise this force he leaves to the legislature. A private letter says it is rumored at Kingston, that two companies of the 10th battalion of artillery encamped a large force of the enemy at Camp Creek, on the 18th inst., consisting of infantry, cavalry and artillery.

Our forces were in rifle pits, sheltered from the enemy's artillery. After two hours' hard fighting, our troops returned from their pits. Our loss none; that of the enemy not known.

Further Returns from the Army Vote.

From the 8th REGIMENT.—The Racine Advocate has a letter from the 8th regiment, dated at Grand Junction, Tenn., Nov. 11th. The writer says they started from Corinth on the 2d, and reached camp at the place of date late in the afternoon of the 4th, after a very hard march—tired, hungry, and footsore. Company K organized and held an election, giving 25 votes for Potter and 3 for Brown. No other company, it is stated, held an election.

VOTE OF THE 19th.—Returns from four companies of the 19th regiment, not before reported, were received at the Capital this morning, viz: Companies C, F, G, and K, giving Potter 7 votes, J. S. Brown 2; Sloan 2, Guppy 2; Cobb 2, Simpson 1; Bragg 2, Eldridge 5; E. L. Browne 6; Wheeler 6; Hand 46, Stoddard 21, or 83 republican and 72 democratic, which, added to the vote of the six companies, previously reported, makes the full vote of the regiment 207 republican and 129 democratic. The political complexion of the regiment was supposed to be different.

THE 1ST CAVALRY.—Returns have been received from all the companies of the 1st cavalry regiment, though there may possibly be other detachments to come in. The regiment gives 72 for Potter, 4 for Brown; 61 for Sloan, 4 for Guppy; 12 for Cobb, 3 for Simpson; 43 for Bragg, 3 for Eldridge; 21 for E. L. Browne, 5 for Wheeler; 12 for Hand, 2 for Stoddard, or 221 republican, 22 democratic. This does not exactly agree with some statements of the News, the other day, that the vote was about even. "USUMUS"—Returns have been received from Co. G, of the 21st regiment, from which it appears that one company voted, and cast "niver" a democratic vote, having given 1 for Potter, 33 for E. L. Browne, and 1 for Bragg for congress, and McMill 38 votes for the senate, with none for his opponent.

The 13th and 14th.—Returns have been received from four companies of each of the above regiments. They go republican of course, the former almost unanimously.—Madison Journal.

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette.
From the Eighth Regiment.
DAVIS MILLS, MO., NOV. 17, 1862.
EDITORS GAZETTE.—We have made another move since you last heard from me; we are now on the Mississippi Central railroad at Davis Mills. The bridges have all been destroyed by the rebels on this road as far as we have come. You people at home may think we move slow, but you must bear in mind that to move an army as large as this, without having railroad or river transportation, is out of the question. Two bridges were destroyed here on the road; one is finished now and the cars pass over it, the other will be done in a few days. We then will, I suppose, move on again until we meet other obstructions. You may say, let the railroad go, live on the country. Well, we do that to a great extent, but corn meal is not altogether the thing to subsist an army on; hard crackers and bacon is what the men want to fill their haversacks with when marching; corn meal cannot well be cooked on a march. It will do in camp for three or four weeks, but for months at a time it is not very desirable to all of us. To feed the stock we have with us takes an immense amount of the enemy's forage, and after the army passes things look very dead; the harvest is gathered. Beauregard's order last spring, calling on all the southern planters who loved the confederacy, to plant corn instead of cotton, I think was a very good one. If they had not obeyed it we could not have moved half as fast as we do. No forage of any kind is sent here from the north. We subsist all our horses and mules off the corn fields of the sunny south, and the number of them is thousands. You can form some idea of what animals we have to feed when I tell you, that when this wing of the army left Corinth we took, to each regiment, five teams, besides officers' horses, cavalry and artillery horses and ambulance teams; and the train that followed us six days after, with the remainder of our baggage, was 12 miles long. This is only one wing of the army; the right and centre is probably as large as the left, so you see if it were not for the corn fields here, our old Uncle would have to shell out a great many more green backs than he does. Speaking of green backs, how do they look now? The same as they used to? Those paymasters of Uncle's have not been seen down here now for nearly five months. The boys begin to think he has gone back on his numerous nephews in the army.

There are two armies moving here—the African army, which keeps moving to the rear, and the United States army, which is moving to the front. Hundreds of acres of cotton here has not been picked. The blacks say they have "done quit picking cotton now." We encamped in a large cotton field a few days ago. General order No. 100, of the department, announcing the holding of a military court of inquiry, to be held at Indianapolis, to enquire into late military operations by Major-General Buell in Kentucky.

The Tribune's Acquiescence letter says: Our army line extends from Stafford Court House to the Rappahannock. A story is in circulation that the advance will not take place from Fredericksburg, but the movement to the Rappahannock is only a feint, while the decisive blow will be struck from another direction. Those who appear to believe the story cannot however give it any foundation.

From the Richmond Enquirer, Nov. 12th.
EXECUTIVE ORDER, NOVEMBER 12th, 1862.
TO LIEUT. GEN. BURNIDE, COMMANDING THE DEPT.
GENERAL: Enclosed you will find a slip from the Memphis Daily Appeal, of the 3d inst., containing an account purporting to be derived from the Palmyra (Mo.) Courier, a federal journal, of the murder of ten confederate citizens of Missouri by order of General McNeill, of the United States army. You will communicate by flag of truce with the federal officer commanding that department and ascertain if the facts are as stated. If they are so you will demand the immediate surrender of McNeill to the confederate authorities, and if this demand is not complied with, you will inform said commanding officer that you are ordered to execute the first ten United States officers who fall into your hands.

Very respectfully yours,
[Signed] JEFFERSON DAVIS.

SPECIAL TO TIMES.—Such information has been received at these headquarters this p.m., as leaves no further room to doubt that the entire northern portion of Virginia has been abandoned by the rebel troops. There are a few of White's guerrillas remaining about Leesburg, Mount, Gilead, Martinsburg, and vicinity. Jackson has gone towards Richmond.

Special to Herald.—News of interest has reached me from the headquarters of Stonewall Jackson, as late as Saturday last. Jackson then had his headquarters at Berryville and was there in person. His force was 39,000 and the number of his guns 60. On Friday Jackson received the following telegram from Jeff. Davis: "If you do not leave the valley at once and come to help us to defend Richmond, it will not be worth your while to come to a defense at all." Jackson's reply is not known, but the news were not in motion Saturday morning. The inference is that he replied in the negative. This was the fourth dispatch Jackson received from Davis calling him to come to the defense of Richmond.

and took the road to Salem, where he arrived at night. The inhabitants there expected Jackson that night, and they prepared food to receive him. He left Richmond on the 16th of this month, and saw about 11,000 infantry between Culpepper and the Rappahannock, and the railroad trains were full of provisions coming from Washington to the rear of Burnside. They say Jackson will march to Warrenton in the rear of Burnside. He also spoke at Salem with Lieut. Halleck, nephew as he says to the commanding general. The Lieut. belongs to Stuart's cavalry, was wounded in the arm and was hid in Salem, in Maddock's house, when our troops were there.

ALL is quiet to day about Bull Run, Chantilly and Centerville.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.
A Fortress Monroe letter, dated the 22d inst., says that the Confederates have been met by our cavalry. A force of the enemy was met, of whom two were killed and six captured. We had not a man injured.

ly agree with some statements of the News, the other day, that the vote was about even. "UNANIMOUS"—Returns have been received from Co. G, of the 21st regiment, from which it appears that one company voted, and cast "niver" a democratic vote, it having given 1 for Potter, 33 for L. L. Brown, and 1 for Briggs for congress, and McDill 33 votes for the senate, with none for his opponent.

THE 13TH AND 14TH.—Returns have been received from four companies of each of the above regiments. They go republican of course, the former almost unanimously.—Madison Journal.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company
OF THE
STATE OF WISCONSIN
Presents advantages in all respects equal, and in some superior, to those of other companies doing business in the northwest. Its rates, its plan of operations, and its basis, are identical with the best companies in this country and Europe. Its age, and consequently its accumulations, are not equal to theirs in amount, but in proportion to the age of risks, and amount at risk, they will compare favorably with the most successful.

Its assets, which have resulted solely from their accumulations amount to $115,712.85, and its annual income, from policies now in force, over $85,000. Its assets and business are constantly increasing. Its losses have been promptly paid. Its trustees are well known, honorable business men, and are as capable of managing an institution of this kind, as men in any other portion of the United States. The experience of the company thus far proves that we can have as reliable companies in the west as any where else, if we will, and self-interest certainly indicates that we should have them, and build up home interests in every practicable way. In the above respects, this company claims equality with its co-workers, and in the following superiority: It obtains the greater portion of its business in the healthiest portion of the United States, thus having the advantage of a less per centage of loss; it requires higher rates of interest on its investments, thus making more rapid accumulations—both very important items in Life Insurance; and its expenses have been less in proportion to its business than any other new company doing business in the United States.

S. S. DAGGETT, President.
A. W. KELLOGG, Secretary.
H. G. WILSON, General Agent.
The company has a large number of lives insured in Janesville. Applications for insurance received by the agent, Willard Merrill, at his law office in Lappin's block.
